DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-16, 18-32, 34, and 36, are drawn to methods of amplification, classified in class 435, subclass 91.2.
- II. Claims 17, 33, 35, and 37, are drawn to methods of probe detection, classified in class 435, subclass 6.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The inventions of groups I, and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated capable independent actions, which have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects therefore restriction is deemed to be proper (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions the methods amplification require different reagents, solvents, and ultimately and single nucleic strand or an elongated strand which has a different physiochemical, structural, and functional properties than the goals of the methods of inventions of groups II. The invention of group II requires a target nucleic acid that is isolated which is not required for the amplification methods of the invention of group I. The methods of the invention of group II, requires the hybridization of two nucleic acids which is not required of the invention of group I. Further the methods of amplification of group I do not require using an antibody to recognize hybridization as required for the methods of detection of group II.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Therefore, because the inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each group is not required for another group, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: nucleic acid regions types 16, 18, 31, 33, 35, 39, 45, 51, 52, 56, 58, 59, 68, and 70.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claims 1-37 are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

A telephone call was made to Mr. John V. Forcier on August 6th, 2002 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement is traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
